ABOUT ME

I'm a practical-focused person with a love of solving problems through technology. I find it easy to learn new tools and languages quickly, and I like to go beyond the basics to understand how things work. I value a good technical challenge, work well in a team, and am persistent when I need to find solutions. I have a special interest in software development and like to build things that work efficiently and cleanly. I'm always looking to improve, both technically and personally.

BotOlympics 2022

BotOlympics is the University of Coimbra's robotics competition. It is an educational and training event and aims to introduce the world of robotics to the most curious.

Consisting of three simultaneous competitions for students from elementary school to university level, it takes place in a hackathon-type environment over four days, where participants have to develop ways of achieving the objectives of each of the competitions.

Given the wide age range of the participants, the BotOlympics is a unique competition in Portugal.

To make sure you don't miss anything, you'll have access to training and all the material you need to enjoy the best possible experience. There will also be lots of surprises waiting for you and a parallel program full of dynamic activities so that you can make the most of these days.
